

DESTINATIONS

CRUISE LINE	GALAPAGOS	AMAZON	POLAR
Abercrombie & Kent	x	x	x
Aqua Expeditions		x
Azamara/Celebrity	x	x	x
Crystal		x
Holland America			x
Hurtigruten			x
International Expeditions	x	x
Kleintours	x
Lindblad Expeditions	x		x
Oceania		x	x
Quark Expeditions			x
Regent Seven Seas			x
Seabourn		x	x
Silversea	x	x	x
Travel Dynamics			x
Voyages of Discovery		x

Several of the most interesting and important destinations for eco-aware travelers can best be reached by cruise ships. The Galapagos Islands, famed for their biodiversity, lie some 600 miles off the coast of Ecuador. The Amazon River supports the world's largest and most important rain forest. And climate change is already altering the ecology at the North and South poles, where there are few accommodations for visitors.